

Despite international concerns Iran regime enriches uranium

Wednesday, 12 April 2006

BOI – Mullahs' regime declared today that it has successfully enriched uranium to the extent in which it can now make nuclear fuel.

The announcement was made in total defiance of the deadline set by the UN Security Council for the regime to halt all its uranium enrichment related activities by the end of April.

With 15 days left to the UN deadline, Gholamreza Aghazadeh, mullahs' nuclear chief made the announcement in a speech which was broadcast live by the state television.
