

Iran regime's meddling in Iraq Denounced by Euro MPs

Wednesday, 10 May 2006

BOI – In protest to mullahs' interference in Iraqi affairs, several members of European Parliament joined their colleagues in European countries and North America to raise their concerns with Iraqi authorities.

In their letters they strongly condemned the Iranian regime's campaign of misinformation against its main opposition, the People's Mojahedin of Iran (PMOI), which is protected by international conventions while based in Iraq.

Mrs. Piiia-Noora Kauppi, head of the Finnish delegation in the European Parliament from Christian Democratic group wrote in her letter: "I have been irritated by many attempts of the Iranian government to disturb the new democratic process in Iraq." Her colleague from the same parliamentary group, Dr. Jaroslave Zverina, sent his protest letter saying: "The Iranian regime has asked Iraqi government to curtail the Mojahedin's right to freedom of speech, an indisputable right granted to them on the basis of international law and the Fourth Geneva Convention," he then expressed hope that the Iraqi government would do everything in its power to uphold all the rights and protections accorded to the Mojahedin.
